Fook Shing is named after the infamous Chinese Detective who was posted to the goldfields during Victoria's Gold Rush. The policeman originally based in Melbourne's Chinatown was the go to plain clothes detective for any issues related to Chinese in Victoria. "Send Fook Shing" was a regular message from Victoria's Police Commissioner.

A colourful period in Victoria's history it seemed only fitting to link the cuisine and the person with the place. Originally operated as a temperance hotel (accommodation, no grog), the pub has seen many changes in its life after originally hosting coaches and their crew on the gold route. It is also believed that Fook Shing himself stayed here during his time visiting the goldfields. Fook Shing's likeness is captured from early drawings by local artist Amber McLindin and can be seen inside the pub's entry foyer.
